

Jacksonville Writers Writing Jacksonville

Saturday, November 14, 2015

3 - 7 pm

Park & King Streets,
in the heart of Riverside,
Jacksonville, Florida

with $10 after-party and book-signing at Everess Art Studio, located at the corner of Rossell and King Streets

Jax by Jax Event Guide.

Wander from venue to venue. Have a drink. Come hear a playwright, then a poet, then a novelist, and in the process visit a pub, a coffeehouse, the offices of Jacksonville magazine. Buy a t-shirt, nosh on some snacks, and listen to a poet in the shaded back courtyard of a Riverside bungalow. And do it all in any order you want.

Choose your own adventure. At Park & King. In the heart of Riverside.

*Each venue will host two writers who alternate at the half hour. For example, if Emily Dickinson and H.P. Lovecraft share Silver Cow Watering Hole as a venue, Dickinson might perform at 3 pm, Lovecraft at 3:30, Dickinson at 4 pm, and so on.

The Annex, 1508 King Street

Johnny Masiulewicz "A Chicago Poet in Jacksonville"

Jordan Logue "Jacksonville through the Eyes of Detective Lambert Van Poole"

Beer:30, 1271 King Street

H.K. Rainey "A Natural History of Violence"

G.M. Palmer "Better Left Unsung: Poems from With Rough Gods"

Cool Moose Café & Bistro, 2708 Park Street

Sohrab Fracis "Readings from Iowa Award-Winning Ticket to Minto: Stories of India and America."

Emily K. Michael "The Line Between Prose and Poetry"

Flaire Celebrations, 2762 Park Street

Michaela Tashjian “Deep Throat, Pinocchio, and Your Scheherazade”

Carol O’Dell “Saving Pelicans and Boat People”

Jacksonville Magazine, 1261 King Street

Marcus Pactor “Cake”

April Gray Wilder “Three Kinds of Magic”

Nourish: A Juice Café, 1510 King Street

Monica DePaul “Little Annoyances: Young Adult Paranormal Satire”

Heather Peters “Sinking in the Stillness: Finding Georgia Clay in France”

Paperwhite Salon, 2706 Park Street

Fred Dale “Poems of Our Neighborhood, or Poems to Love (Jim) and R.A.P.”

Frances Driscoll “Seaglass Picnic”

Riverside Liquors, 1251 King Street

Jeff Whipple “A Staged Reading from a Play”

Liz Gibson “Deformance Art”

Silver Cow, 1506 King Street

Hurley Winkler “Musings on Miss Virginia King”

Tim Gilmore “The Mad Atlas of Virginia King, the Virgin Queen of Riverside”

Sunday Tattoo, 2774 Park Street

Andres Rojas “The Patient Hunger: The City and the Natural World”

Matthew Lany “The Tree (a novel), Heartcockvaginamind (poems), and Transplant (a novel-in-progress)”

Superhero Hive Comic Book Store, 2724 Park Street

Tangela Floyd “Introducing the Black Superheroes: A Commemorative Comic Book”

Raleigh Rand “The Timucuan Are Here: Don’t Dig Too Deep!”

Whiteway Conference Room, 2nd Floor, accessible through lobby at 2720 Park Street

Tiffany Melanson “Poetry on the Perils and Privileges of Marriage, Motherhood, Loss and Desire”

Lisa Vick Grubba “Florida: Some Enchanted Place”